

John-Paris Pantouvakis, PhD

John-Paris Pantouvakis, PhD, is an Associate Professor of Construction Management and the Director of both the Department of Construction Engineering & Management and the Centre for Construction Innovation at the National Technical University of Athens. He is the President of PM-Greece, the Greek IPMA Member, a First Assessor for IPMA Certification in Greece and an Assessor for the IPMA Project Excellence Award. He also serves as a Member of the Scientific Committee of various journals and international conferences. John-Paris will Chair the 26th IPMA World Congress in 2012. More information is available at his personal website.

